

And A Very

Hoggy New Year

Merry Christmas!

My Life In My Words

I am an animal rescuer.

My job is to assist God's creatures.

I was born with the need to fulfill their needs.

I take in helpless, unwanted, homeless creatures without plan, thought or selection.

I would buy pet/pig food with my very last dime.

I have hugged someone vicious and afraid.

I have watched the change from terrified to trusting.

I have hugged and cried into a lifeless little body.

I know of no creature unworthy of my time!

I know that all animals DO go to Heaven.

They DO have a soul and they ask to be loved.

God made them so perfect, they just want to trust.

We may be the master of all of the animals,

But the animals have learned to master themselves;

Something people still have not learned.

There is nothing more satisfying than helping an orphan.

Nothing more rewarding than saving a life.

Nothing more greater than seeing them thrive;

Who only days ago, was afraid it would die.

I have fallen in love – at least a thousand times.

I will fight for an animal to make their life better.

I will go to any length and use any strength.

I will always be the voice for those who can't speak.

I want to be there for any animal with needs.

I am an animal rescuer.

My work will never be done.

My home will always be open.

My wallet usually always empty.

But...my heart will always be full!

~ By Anonymous

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

from Heidi, Rosie
and the herd

